Owning a property is challenging and requires a significant amount of time and effort. Many owners prefer to oversee their own properties and look to Elite by JS Tamers to assist with guidance, portfolio evaluation, expansion and property managerial oversight.

We understand that many property owners are simply more comfortable managing their own properties and are not interested in giving up control to a property management company. We work in tandem with these property owners, behind the scenes, to accomplish daily ordinary property-related tasks and provide advice on issues or questions that may arise in relation to the asset.
